NEGROES MOBBED IN NEW YORK

THE RACE ATTACKED MERCILESSLY.

Aroused by the Killing of a White Policeman by a Negro, a Mob Gathers in Front of the Dead Man's House and Starts On a Tour of Vengeance—Riot Lasted All Night and Broke out Fresh This Morning.

By Wire to The Telegram.

New York, Aug. 16.—A mob of several hundred persons formed at 11 o'clock last night in front of the home of Policeman Robert J. Thorpe, of Thirty-seventh street and Ninth avenue, to wreak vengeance upon the negroes of that neighborhood because one of their race had caused the policeman's death. Thorpe was stabbed and bruised last Sunday night by several negroes when he was at a meeting house to arrest a colored woman. The man who inflicted most of the injury is said to be Arthur Harris, a negro who came here several weeks ago from Washington. In a few moments last night the mob swelled to 1,500 people or more and as they became violent the negroes fled in terror into any hiding place they could find.

The mob rule reigned all night from Twenty-third to Fifty-first street and sixth to tenth avenue. Five hundred policemen and the ambulance from every hospital on the west side were kept busy. Over fifty were wounded, including five police men. Forty were made prisoners.

The riot started afresh this morning. In spite of seven hundred police reserves additional to the regular force, several persons were shot. The mob attacked Shandley's restaurant, in which a negro fled for safety.

FIRE AT HIGH POINT.

A Fight on a Colored Excursion—A Lump of Gold—Personal.

Correspondence of the Telegram.

High Point, Aug. 16.—A man by the name of Cox, from Randolph county, was here yesterday with a lump of gold, the value of which was about $40.00. He sent it to the mint at Charlotte.

Ham Hollis, colored, was tried yesterday for the larceny of a watch and sent to Greensboro jail on the noon train to await Superior Court.

Mr. Earle Carter left yesterday for Raleigh, where he will take charge of the wood-working, carpentry, etc., department of the Agricultural and Mechanical College.

Yesterday afternoon fire was discovered in the woods on the land of Levi Horney, lying near the cemetery. It did considerable damage before being checked. A good portion of the fence around the cemetery was damaged. The fire spread over several acres of timber land. It is supposed that it originated by some careless person who, while in the woods, was smoking and threw down fire which quickly caught the dry matter.

Tuesday the colored people ran an excursion to Asheboro and while there two of their crowd, Bud Perry and Frank Adams, got into a quarrel which resulted in Perry cutting a long gash in Adams' side. Some idea of the extent of the wound can be formed when it is known that it required 41 stitches to complete the job at this writing. Perry is at large.

Dennis Hall went to Blowing Rock yesterday morning to complete his work on Mr. C. Cone's dwelling.

The Misses Moring, of Asheboro, who have been visiting Miss Kate Ingram, returned home yesterday.

Miss Mamie Jones, of Winston, is visiting the family of her brother, Mr. J. E. Jones.

Rev. Levi Reece, of the Friends church, will preach in the Methodist church tonight. All are cordially invited to hear him.

Mrs. Cyrus Reynolds, of Greensboro, is visiting the family of Mr. J. L. Sechrest.

The young people enjoyed a hay ride last night.

The Sunday schools of the Guilford district of the M. P. church will picnic at Archdale Saturday.

A Lecture at the Friends Church.

Rev William G. Hubbard, of Cleveland, Ohio, national lecturer of the American Peace Association, will speak at the Friends church tonight. He will be worth hearing. Everybody invited.

THE WIDTH OF WALLS

Is the Fire Ordinance and Building Law Being Disregarded in the Erection of Buildings in Greensboro?

It is said that the city ordinance regarding the width of brick walls is being disregarded in some of the buildings being erected in Greensboro. This may be done either through ignorance of the law or from a desire to reduce building expenses. However, the law is plain and is supposed to be enforced.

Section 4 of the fire ordinance and building law of the city of Greensboro provides that the walls of warehouses, stores, factories, livery stables and other brick and stone buildings, not including isolated dwellings, shall conform to the following minimum schedule:

One-story buildings, 13 inches; two-story, 17 inches for the first, and 13 inches for the second-story walls; three-story, 17 inches for the first, 17 inches for the second and 13 inches for the third story; four-story, 22 inches for the first, 17 inches for the second, 17 inches for the third and 13 inches for the fourth story; five story, 26 inches for the first, 22 inches for the second, 17 inches for the third, 17 inches for the fourth, and 13 inches for the fifth story.

The ordinance further provides that "all top story walls must extend through and 18 inches above the roof in parapet and be coped with terra-cotta, stone, cast iron or cement. The roof of all buildings named in this section shall be of metal, slate or tile."

AT THE FAIR GROUNDS.

A Splendid Race Track Being Graded—Lumber on the Ground for the Buildings.

Work at the fair grounds is progressing rapidly and satisfactorily. The half-mile race track is being graded, a number of laborers and teams being employed on the work. The track is to be 40 feet wide and will be made perfectly level, the only one of the kind in the State. A great deal of money will be expended, making one of the best tracks in the country.

Several car loads of lumber have been placed on the ground and work on the exhibit hall and grand stand will begin in a few days. The work of building the fence has already commenced.

The view of the fair grounds, printed in yesterday's Telegram, shows how everything will look when completed.

To Keep Away Loafers.

The loafers that continually hang around the Southern passenger station have become such a nuisance that steps are to be taken to keep them away. It is understood that an ordinance will be drawn up and introduced in a meeting of the Board of Aldermen making it a misdemeanor for any, save those who have business, to loiter around the station.

If an ordinance of this kind will be enacted, and made operative around the post-office as well as at the station, a grateful public will appreciate it.

Splendid Premiums.

The character of the premiums being offered for the Central Carolina Fair shows the interest the business men are taking in the venture. It is doubtful if a higher grade of premiums were ever offered for a similar fair. Many of them are expensive, some of them representing considerable sums of money. For instance, two nice building lots have been offered by L. H. Sturges & Co. and the Southern Loan and Trust Company, respectively.

The Bee Hive also offers a nice premium, donating a ten-dollar lady's hat.

At Work on the Tax Books.

The force in the office of the register of deeds is busy at work computing the tax books of the eighteen townships of the county. It is a tedious and laborious task, almost equal to the sheriff's work making the collections.

Mr. Walter Greene, of this city, and young Mr. Parsons, of Jamestown, are assisting Registrar Kirkman and his clerks.

Gen. J. S. Carr, of Durham, was in the city last evening on his way to Wilkesboro, where he delivered an address at a Masonic and Confederate picnic today.

SAFE WITH THE ARMY

ALL THE FOREIGNERS RESCUED

ARMIES REACHED PEKIN MONDAY

This Information Has Been Received at Chefoo Through Chinese Sources That Are Considered Reliable—An Entrance Into the Besieged City Was Joined Tuesday and the Foreigners and Ministers Recovered—Is It True?

By Wire to The Telegram.

Chefoo, Aug. 16.—The ministers, their wives and children, and all the other foreigners at Pekin are safe with the allied army. Information to this effect has been received here and came through Chinese sources which are considered reliable.

According to the information, the army reached Pekin on Monday. An entrance was obtained into the city Tuesday, and the besieged foreigners rescued.

STORY NOT CORROBORATED.

The dispatches from Washington today do not say anything about this report. The State department today received an appeal from Li Hung Chang to have the allied armies stopped at Tung Chow, ten miles from Pekin, there to be met by high officials from empowered to negotiate peace. The government will reject this proposal and stand by its position that they must give up the foreigners.

The department late yesterday afternoon received an undated dispatch from Conger, but telling nothing new.

The Cabinet met this morning to consider the situation. It is considered that the most delicate part of the work is now on hand.

Crowing Matches.

The Belgian artisan spends his leisure in a very curious manner. He keeps a special cock for crowing, and the bird which can outcrow its fellows has reached the highest pinnacle of perfection. The mode of operation is to place the cages containing the roosters in long rows, for it appears that one bird sets the other off crowing. A marker appointed by the organizers of the show is told off for each bird, his duty being to note carefully the number of crows for which it is responsible in the same fashion as the laps are recorded in a bicycle race. The customary duration of the match is one hour, the winner being the bird which scores the highest number of crows in the allotted time. A great number of these competitions have taken place in the Liege district, and in some cases heavy bets have been made on the result.

Radishes.

Radishes originated in China, where they have been cultivated for many centuries and sometimes grow as big as a man's head. In Germany the old fashioned country mothers cure hoarseness and cough with radish juice mixed with sugar candy. The radishes of today have no flavor, no character. Formerly their sharp, biting taste made them palatable.

A Jury Room Gem.

A gem from the records of a Missouri court, given in an address by Hon. William H. Wallace, is the following lucid verdict in a lunacy case: "We, the jury, impaneled, sworn and charged to inquire into the insolvency of Ezekiah Jones, do occur in the affirmative."

Two Bad Bites.

Diogenes, being asked, "What is that beast which is the most dangerous?" replied, "Of wild beasts the bite of a slanderer and of tame beasts that of the flatterer."

PUT A STUMP ON THE TRACK.

An Attempt to Wreck a Train Carrying Railroad Officials Successful and Nearly Fatal.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Wilkesbarre, Pa., Aug. 16.—A special Lehigh Valley train, carrying high officers of the road, was wrecked last night at Splash Dam on Bowman's Creek branch. A large stump had been placed on the track. A private car was derailed and thrown down an embankment. Supt. Mitchell was badly bruised and his back hurt, while seven others were slightly bruised. It is believed that the stump was placed on the track to wreck the train.

New York 2,050,600.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Washington, Aug. 16.—The census office this morning announced the population of the borough of Manhattan 1,850,093, and the borough of Bronx at 200,507, making a total of the two boroughs of Greater New York of 2,050,600.

The Standing of the Greensboro Insurance Companies.

The report of the insurance commissioner of North Carolina for the past year shows that there are seven North Carolina companies doing business in the State. It is gratifying to know that, of these home companies, the Southern Stock Mutual and the Underwriters of Greensboro stand at the head of the list. The net surplus of the former is placed at $17,816.81, and this has increased considerably since the report was issued. No other North Carolina company has so large a net surplus as the Southern Stock Mutual.

The Greensboro insurance companies have grown steadily since their organization and have never been so liberally patronized as at present.

Representatives of the "Lost Cause" Here.

Miss Florence Barlow, associate editor of The Lost Cause, a monthly journal published at Louisville, Ky., and devoted to the collection and preservation of Confederate history, is here in the interest of her publication. She is accompanied by Miss Mary Irvine Davis, of Paris, Ky. They are stopping at the Guilford, and will be in Greensboro for several days.

The Lost Cause is a handsomely printed monthly periodical and contains much matter of interest to the veterans, the Daughters of the Confederacy and the people of the South generally. The representatives of the paper have met with splendid success in other places, and will doubtless do so here.

A Negro Thief Captured.

When the southbound vestibule came in this morning Policeman Jeffreys arrested a negro tramp by the name of George Wilson who was riding on the rear of one of the baggage cars. He had in his possession two good pairs of shoes and an express receipt for a trunk shipped from Washington to Charlotte. The receipt placed the value of the trunk at $30.

The negro had evidently stolen the shoes and trunk and was probably intending to dispose of them when he reached Charlotte. He was locked up pending an examination.

"OH, JOSEPHINE; POOR LITTLE JOE"

The Grief of the Deserted Wife as Her Love to Hatred Turned—Sorrow for Her Sister.

Special to the Philadelphia Record.

Dover, Del., Aug. 14.—After gathering up all the valuable and pretty furniture in their cosy State street residence, to move out to her father's house, Mrs. Nellie Packard Wilkinson broke down this evening and seemed to have lost every iota of the magnificent self-control which she possessed since her arrival here from Rehoboth to lea of the elopement of her husband with her only sister.

GRIEF FOR HER SISTER.

Apparently forgetting her own grief, and overlooking entirely the great wrong perpetrated against her by her sister, she sobbed loudly for that sister.

"Oh, Josephine; poor little Joe, where has he taken you? Come back to us!" she cried.

Her husband's act had turned her love into hate and she saw only the ruined life of her pretty sister.

HUSBAND COMPLAINED OF ILLNESS.

Speaking of the awful trouble that had come upon them, Mrs. Wilkinson said:

"My husband had complained of feeling ill of late, and also of impending business troubles. On Friday he told me that the State Capitol Press, the Dover paper in which he was interested, had been seized by the Sheriff and, as it would not bring the amount of its liabilities, the creditors would come upon him for the remaining obligations."

"He could not stay here and see all this, as his health was broken down, and he was discouraged. He said to me another time: 'I am thinking of going up into the Adirondacks and may look around and find a better place to open up business. If I should I shall start a drug store, and then I'll send for you.'"

GOT PASSES TWO WEEKS AGO.

Mr. Packard learned to-day that Wilkinson had secured his two newspaper passes as long ago as a fortnight, reading: "H. M. Wilkinson and wife, Washington to Asheville, N. C." showing that the carrying off of the girl was premeditated. All along he had insisted to his wife that he should go to Rehoboth for a few weeks while he recuperated in the mountains.

Howard M. Wilkinson married Miss Nellie Packard at the home of her father here on November 30, 1893. Rev. Sewell N. Pilchard, United States army chaplain at Fort Bayard, New Mexico, an uncle of the bride, performed the ceremony.

From the Cold to the Hot.

Washington Post.

Mr. E. R. Harper, of Ohio, who was Representative Dick's right-hand man when the latter was secretary of the Republican National Committee, was at the Raleigh last night, having just returned from a visit of several months to Colorado, where he has large silver mining interests.

"Up in the mountains where I have been," said Mr. Harper, "there is still snow in the gullies, and it is only within the past few weeks that the ground in exposed places has been bare. Coming from there to Washington was like stepping from an ice house into a furnace. I never realized how hot it got in Washington until I came here from a colder climate."

Death of a Former Greensboro Woman.

Mrs. B. G. Graham died at her home in Spartanburg, S. C. Tuesday night. Before her marriage she was Miss Carrie McKnight and resided in Greensboro. She leaves a husband, three daughters and a son.

The remains were interred in Wadesboro today.

Stole a Gun and a Bicycle.

Will Gibson, a negro, was arrested and jailed this afternoon for stealing a gun from his brother-in-law, Bill Mitchell. After he was arrested it developed that he also stole Mr. Richard Turner's wheel a few days ago and carried it to Burlington, disposing of it for $6.

Ex-Senator Ingalls Dead.

By Wire to The Telegram.

Atchison, Kan., August 16.—Ex-Senator John J. Ingalls, of Kansas, died at 2:30 this morning.

THE USELESSNESS OF REVIVING THE RACE ISSUE.

[Raleigh Post.]

The campaign on the negro as an issue was opened last January and prosecuted with increasing bitterness until it culminated in the triumphant victory for white supremacy on the 2d of this current month, occupying seven full months.

For a long period of that time labor and business was at least seriously disturbed, uncertainty and anxiety existed and the public mind was stretched to its highest tension.

The people were desperately engaged in a contest for the settlement of the negro's status in the politics of the State, in other words the destruction of the power of the negro to control, directly or indirectly, the affairs of the State or any division or sub-division thereof. This was the issue, and the only issue. With the result of the election in favor of the contention of the white people on the 2d, the issue was to be finally settled.

The election resulted in an overwhelming and unprecedented majority in favor of the contention of the white people, and must be and is accepted by all concerned as a final settlement of the negro as an issue. The party is pledged by its every declaration, through its platform and chosen leaders in the late campaign, that upon the adoption of the amendment the negro as a partisan or political issue in this State should be no more.

Yet, the election is no sooner over than an attempt is made to continue the discussion of the negro as an issue along the same lines which prevailed for the seven preceding months. For three or more months of the year a subject which always arouses the passions of men, and thus disturbs society and threatens all interests, must be kept up, because the present Republican administration, at the instance of the Congressman from the Second district, appointed some twenty-seven negroes to be postmasters. These negro postmasters are objectionable to our people of course, and should not have been appointed; but, are we justified in view of our recent campaign pledges and the result of that election to continue the issue, this disturbing issue, because of these postmasters? Are we to continue this as an issue at each recurring national election, because the President or Postmaster-General will have the power to appoint a negro to any Federal position whether the negro is allowed to vote in the State or not?

If we mistake not every negro postmaster appointed by the present administration was assigned to an office in the Second district, upon the recommendation of the present Congressman of that district.

How did that district vote in the recent election? According to the returns, the Second district gave some fifteen thousand Democratic majority. Is it possible that from August to November that great majority will reverse itself? Does any sane man believe that Claude Kitchin will fail of election? Will that large majority, presumably of white voters, experiencing the disagreeable condition of negro postmasters will fail to elect a Congressman who will exercise the same control in this matter as the Congressmen in the other districts exercised, in at least securing the appointment of white men? This fifteen thousand majority in August, to be followed by another majority in November for Mr. Kitchin, will be as much a protest coupled with the entire vote of the State in August on the same subject as any result that can be after another such red-hot, business-destroying campaign just ended in August. If we elect good Congressmen, which is our paramount duty in this pending contest, we need fear no very serious disregard of the wishes of our people by any future administration.

We all knew before August as well as now that the Washington administration would still have power to appoint negroes to certain offices in this State, regardless of all laws we could adopt to eliminate him from State politics. Why did we make the solemn pledge that upon the adoption of the constitutional amendment, which can only relate to State affairs, that the negro issue should henceforth be dropped, if the issue is to be revived at election each hereafter? The people will not tolerate such subterfuge.

If any one really thinks another campaign upon the negro issue from now until November, will either be popular or effective, let him ask intelligent farmers, working people, merchants, managers of industrial enterprises, and he will soon be convinced that the attempt to revive such will not only be resented, but will have exactly the opposite effect from that desired.

The great national issues upon which the two parties have come before the people—imperialism, militarism, silver at 16 to 1, trusts, business and capitalistic combinations, what shall be done with the Filipinos, and others, are enough to enlist the serious consideration of the people without lugging in an issue which has just been settled so far as it can seriously threaten or disturb our people. If, with our 60,000 majority and the bold, aggressive position of our candidate, Mr. Bryan, on all these great questions, we cannot hold the State in line without reviving the negro issue, then both our victory and future prospects are based upon a very flimsy foundations.

After writing the editorial upon the attempt to revive the negro issue, our attention was attracted to some remarks made Monday night by that splendid patriot and chivalrous gentleman, Hon. A. M. Waddell, Wilmington's mayor. Like all his utterances, these are clear-cut, manly, vigorous, loyal to the best interests and noblest aspirations of the people of our old State. Colonel Waddell represents the business as well as the Christian sentiment of the people in the position he takes. And it is in strict accordance with the views of The Post.

A Meeting in Charlotte or Greensboro.

[Charlotte Observer.]

An Observer man was informed yesterday that there is a quiet movement on foot among the business men of this city and in a few other North Carolina towns relative to the political conditions of this State. The suggestion seems to be that they expect to meet at Greensboro or Charlotte and formulate a resolution expressive of their view of the situation; maintaining that political and economic problems are closely akin and that they have a right to speak as to the latter. They will publicly voice their deprecation of the turmoil and bother that will come to this State if the cry of "negro" is prolonged and they will voice a wish for conservatism and decency in politics.

How to Give a Cat Medicine.

A New York gentleman has a very fine Angora cat, and so fine a specimen of her kind that she is famous in a large circle of fashionable folk. She is not rugged in health, yet she cannot be persuaded to take physic. It has been put in her milk, it has been mixed with her meat, it has even been rudely and violently rubbed in her mouth, but never has she been deluded or forced into swallowing any of it. Last week a green Irish girl appeared among the household servants. She heard about the failure to treat the cat. "Sure," said she, "give me the medicine and some lard, and I'll warrant she'll be eating all I give her!" She mixed the powder and the grease and smeared it on the cat's sides. Pussy at once licked both sides clean and swallowed all the physic. "Faith," said the servant girl, "everybody in Ireland does know how to give medicine to a cat!"

HAVE NO ELECTORAL TICKET.

THE POPULISTS ARE IN A BAD WAY.

Extensive Preparations for the Unveiling of the Vance Statue—Judge Whitaker Denies That He Wants to be Republican Elector—Mysterious Theft From the Revenue Office.

Special Correspondence of The Telegram.

Raleigh, Aug. 16.—The first bale of new cotton was sold on the Raleigh market yesterday and brought 94 cents. It was raised by D. G. Lytch at Lytch, shipped here to C. E. Johnson & Co. and bought by Lee & Latta. The first bale of Wake county cotton is expected Saturday.

Armistead Jones, Esq., chairman of the State Board of Internal Improvements, says that board will hold a regular meeting at Morehead today. The most important work will be the election of directors on the part of the State for the Atlantic and North Carolina Railroad. The terms of the present directors expire the first of September.

Rev. W. N. Johnson, pastor of Weldon Baptist church, and Miss Eva Coppedge, of this county, were married yesterday.

Ex-Judge Spier Whitaker denies that he is in the field for Republican elector in this district and says no one knows what his politics are, but that in the past he has always voted the Democratic ticket.

A negro boy here yesterday had his aged mother arrested for the larceny of $5. The evidence at the hearing showed he was the thief, so he went to jail for maliciously prosecuting his mother, who was supporting him.

A Populist calls attention to the fact that his party has no electoral ticket in the field. None have been named except two at large, and one of these now says that he endorses expansion as promoted by the McKinley administration. How can he remain a Populist elector with Bryan as the nominee and hold these views?

Mrs. Julia A. Bailey, widow of Joseph Bailey, died in this city yesterday.

Work is now in progress at the fair grounds for the October fair. The fence is being moved 100 feet so as to give more room. President McNamee is taking great interest in the fair and Mr. Geo. Vanderbilt will make a mammoth display in many lines, but will not compete for any of the premiums, as his exhibits have heretofore.

Articles have very mysteriously been disappearing from the revenue office of late. Among things lost was a coat, watch, fountain pens and small change. Yesterday the thief was found to be a little negro bootblack, who entered by means of a transom.

Extensive preparations are being made for the unveiling of the Vance statue, August 22d. Among the military organizations that have accepted the invitation to attend are the Wilmington Light Infantry, the Forsythe Rifles, the Vance Guards, of Henderson, and the Durham company.

The procession will form on Fayetteville street at 11:30. There will be no mounted men in the procession or any vehicles.

WANTS HER BOY RETURNED.

Husband Accused of Deserting Wife and Carrying Off Their Child.

Washington Post.

Miss Flora Wright, through her attorneys, Albert Sillers and Campbell Carrington, yesterday brought suit for a writ of habeas corpus in the District Supreme Court to recover possession of her five-year-old son, who, she alleges, has been taken from home by her husband, James H. Wright, and placed in an institution on the Tennytown road.

In her petition Mrs. Wright states that she was married to the defendant in this city on June 30, 1890, and that since then she has been the chief wage-earner of the family. She is employed, she says, at a bakery in the Center Market, earning $7 a week, all of which is devoted to the family's support. Her husband has lately been employed by a dry goods house as driver of a delivery wagon. He earned $8 a week and paid about half of it into the family treasury.

She alleges that on July 1 last, her husband deserted her, announcing that he would return and get their child. This he did, she says, on July 8, coming to the house while she was at work and taking the boy away. She says she searched all over the city for her child, and finally found him at the institution on Tennytown road. Her husband had told the authorities there that the child had no one to care for him. The defendant, she alleges, has threatened to carry the child away from the city. She asks that he be restrained from doing this and that he be compelled to return the boy to her home, pending a final determination by the court as to his custody.

The temporary restraining order asked for was issued by Justice Barnard. The petition was supported by an affidavit from Mrs. Mary Wright, step-mother of the defendant.

Much Worse.

Glasgow Evening Times.

Charitable Old Lady—Poor woman! And you are a widow? Beggar—Worse than a widow. Ma'am, Me husband's living, an' I have to support him.

Cancer

There are never any external signs of Cancer until the blood is polluted and the system thoroughly contaminated by this deadly virulent poison. Then a sore or ulcer appears on some part of the body; it may be small and harmless looking at first, but as the cancerous cells form and are deposited by the blood near the sore, it increases in size and severity, with sharp shooting pains. No matter how often the sore is removed by the surgeon's knife or flesh destroying plasters, another comes and is worse. The real disease is in the blood, and the treatment must begin there. The poisoned blood must be invigorated and purified, and when this is done cancerous cells can no longer form and the sore will heal naturally and permanently.

Mrs. Sarah M. Keeling, of Windsor Ave., Bristol, Tenn., writes: "I am 47 years old, and for three years had suffered with a severe form of Cancer on my jaw, which the doctors said was incurable, and that I could not live more than six months. I accepted their statement as true, and had given up all hope of ever being well again, when my druggist, knowing of my condition, recommended S. S. S. After taking a few bottles the sore began to heal, to the surprise of the physicians, and in a short time made a complete cure. I have gained in flesh, my appetite is splendid, sleep is refreshing—in fact, an enjoying perfect health."

MONROE DOCTRINE WITH FRILLS.

There is some misunderstanding of even so well known and oft-referred-to instrument as the Monroe doctrine. Some American monopolists of wisdom appear to think this famous paper was inspired as a mere piece of philanthropy and that the young republic took the South American and Central American children of Europe under its protection as a matter of humanity, something as a humane stranger might step up and force a brutal parent to desist from cruelly beating his child.

While it is not possible that so close a student of political history as Mr. Bryan does not know all about the famous doctrine, it does appear that he is taking a view of it somewhat like that spoken of above. He is even more extreme than this—he wants to extend its beneficence clear across the Pacific to the Philippines and give them a kind of Monroe doctrine. If we have no business governing their actions, as Mr. Bryan says we have not, we fail to see why we should voluntarily become responsible for their actions.

The Monroe doctrine was not a result of philanthropic ideas. It was based solely upon the ground that it was necessary to our own peace, safety and welfare that no European power should extend its foothold and system upon either of these continents. It was wholly a measure of self defence. Had it been one of philanthropy, we should have had to guarantee them against themselves. The fear that we shall forsake that doctrine or that any European power will attempt to override it because we exert our influence in the East, is out of the question. The perpetuation of the doctrine today depends, as it has always done, upon our ability and willingness to defend it, and Germany, for instance, which is said to have designs upon certain parts of South America, will wait till her warships outclass ours.

If upon the principles of self protection, we wish to create a Monroe doctrine in regard to the Philippines after we have set them up, we might do so. We cannot do it on the humanitarian grounds suggested by Mr. Bryan. That would be the Monroe doctrine with a wide ruffle.

We must still have a large amount of sympathy for Charlotte. The police commission has suspended the policeman who went with a crowd swimming in the water works pond, and also asked that the proper authorities indict the other offenders. The defense of the criminals is that they were given permission to swim, by the keeper of the pumping station, who granted permission on the grounds that there had been negroes in the pond up to their arm pits cleaning out the moss, and he couldn't see that it was any more harm for white folks to be in there than it was for negroes. This was certainly a reasonable contention, and it appears that the only thing the Charlotte folks can do is to be a little more careful when straining their water.

Too Much.

Son—Ah, father. Poets are born, not made.
Father (angrily)—Look here, you! Write all that dern rot ye want, but don't go blamin' mother 'n' me for it. We won't stand it!"

NIGGER IN 1896, 1898, AND IN 1900.

The McKinley organs, which have suddenly come to be as much opposed to talk of negro office-holding as Butler and Pritchard, are hereby notified that the constitutional amendment does not go into effect until 1902.—News and Observer.

And the News and Observer is hereby notified that with the death of the negro issue on August 2, 1900, also died the power of the News and Observer to frighten anybody into forsaking the cause of honesty, justice and humanity by classing them as McKinleyites. Perhaps there is some relation between this fact and the other fact that the News and Observer is trying to prove that the race question in politics is not settled.

The McKinley organs (those seeking now to have the party stand by its pledges made on a thousand stumps not six weeks ago), says the News and Observer, have suddenly become opposed to talking of negro office-holding. This subject of suddenness may be interesting. Sudden! "Ah, Jew, I thank thee for that word." The subject of suddenness is worthy of investigation. Let's see.

The memory of man is short, especially that of the News and Observer. It is often a matter of great convenience that it is short. Sudden! In 1896, some of us who are now styled McKinley organs because we dare stand for justice and right towards the colored man, were then denounced by this same agent of calumny because we dared stand for justice to the white man in demanding that the campaign of that year he fought against negro supremacy, which was then in full bloom, instead of throwing every State issue to the winds as the News and Observer did, even to the extent of beleaguering ourselves with the very pillars of negro supremacy. When there was real, actual negro domination in North Carolina in 1896, the News and Observer led the campaign which premeditatedly ignored it entirely. Again in 1898, when we had the same dastardly set in the saddle, instead of announcing that the infernal gang should be fought squarely to the death and whipped, as afterwards happened, the News and Observer preferred and advocated a contemptible alliance with it, a sell out to the very man who was responsible for it all. Sudden! The very ones who are today standing for justice and humanity towards the negro, were then, in equal justice to him and to the white man, demanding that the negro should forever be put out of politics, as was done this month. Sudden! Again, "Jew, I thank thee for that word!" Sudden! The News and Observer in 1896, ignoring actual negro domination, in 1898 seeking an alliance with it, in 1900, after it has been forever killed by a majority of 60,000, seeking to run a great campaign on its dead carcass! Sudden! Again, "Jew—"

No sir, the papers standing now for fulfillment of party pledges, for the cultivation of a humane spirit towards the helpless negro race since it has been put in its proper place, for some degree of manhood and independence, are not frightened, or even concerned about being called McKinleyites, or bolters. That bogie man is dead in North Carolina. The News and Observer may crack its whip and screech. It will afford us diversion, but cause us to swerve not a hair's breadth from our intended course. After awhile the News and Observer's antics will become understood by all the people as we understand them and then all the people will laugh at them, as we who are classed as McKinleyites laugh at them now. As the Durham Herald says, the best element of the people in this State believe in keeping the faith, and they will do it. Men like Col. Waddell, who were fighting the enemy when the News and Observer was bootlicking him, are for keeping the faith. The people who believed in white supremacy when it was under a cloud, believe in justice and square dealing when the sun of white supremacy has risen no more to set. There can be no question of the motives that actuate the papers now demanding that the campaign pledges be kept. There is but one influential paper in the whole State that demands that they be broken, and that one is the News and Observer. Beside the large list of influential secular papers now standing for the right, the Presbyterian Standard, the organ of the North Carolina Synod, and the Biblical Recorder, organ of the North Carolina Baptist Convention, have spoken for that side. The other religious papers of the State have not spoken, but it is sure they will not speak for meanness and littleness.

As the Democratic convention of 1898 rammed the News & Observer's policy of dishonor down its throat so the people are now preparing to make it swallow its present policy of perfidy. It will only be too glad to do this when it finds that it has misgauged public sentiment and is not on the popular side.

This is the history of the News and Observer's position on the negro in 1896, 1898 and 1900. How can such conduct be explained? Very easily. It seeks to pose before Mr. Bryan as the individual which holds North Carolina in the hollow of its hand. In 1896 and 1898, Mr. Butler was about to achieve that distinction, hence it had to out-Butler him. In 1900, if it got up no bugaboo and scarecrow to make it conspicuous as the over-towering supporter of Mr. Bryan, there might be some danger of its not being sufficiently conspicuous. This is the whole story.

There is one sure way to have water in which people will not go fishing. That is to go down in the ground for it.

is where we stand in the lumber business. At the kicking post, as it were, in regard to prices.

First comes the owner of the timber. He just woke up to the value of it and wants double last year's prices. Then the sawmill man. He has not been making a fortune and thinks now he should share a little in the general prosperity.

They say to us: "We must have so much for our trees and work." After a while it is "up to you." Don't kick. You don't suppose we have nerve enough to put up prices unless they had first been put up on us. No, indeed. But prices are NOT high. They have been too low and are just now getting reasonable. ## LIFE OF COLLIS P. HUNTINGTON.

FROM POVERTY TO GREAT WEALTH.

Began Life on a Capital of Only $84. Went West and Embarked in Business. Prospered and Concealed the Idea of the Central Pacific Railroad. His Remarkable Success in the Railroad World.

New York Sun.

Collis P. Huntington was one of the biggest men of his kind that America has produced. Like many other great financiers, he started in his business career without a dollar and without an education; yet by his great intellect and his indomitable energy he pushed his way to the front and became a world-recognized leader in financial and railroad circles. Even Jay Gould, who was notorious for his contempt of his business rivals, had a profound respect for Mr. Huntington.

Mr. Huntington came of New England stock. His father was a farmer in Litchfield county, Conn. One of his ancestors was a signer of the Declaration of Independence. The Huntingtons had always been plain, poor people, hard-working and honest. Mr. Huntington was born on Oct. 22, 1821, in the little village of Harwinton. As soon as he was big enough to toddle his father put him at work. He had only the smallest opportunity for schooling, but that did not worry him. He attended the district school in the winter and in the summer helped about the farm until he was 14, when he cut loose and began life for himself. During his first year he earned $84 in money and his board and clothes. Of the $84 he spent not a cent. At the end of the year he had it all with which to begin business for himself. Mr. Huntington was always very proud of this fact and he never omitted to mention it in talking of his success in life.

"At the end of the year," he once said, "I was as much of a capitalist as I have ever been since. Start two young men upon the road of life. If one earns $75 the first year and saves $50 and the other, earning the same amount, saves nothing, it seems an easy problem to figure out the probable differences at the end of twenty years. Nothing is more surprising than the result, for while in the second instance, the twenty years will have produced no growth, in the other, the habit of economy and of saving the pennies becomes the most finely tempered and useful tool in his possession, and the growing capital is a servant which, from a child, grows into a giant for his master's advantage."

This was the keynote of the financier's success. With his $84 he purchased a supply of clocks and peddled them around in little Connecticut towns with great shrewdness, thereby increasing his capital. At the age of 21 he came to New York, and making more purchases in general merchandise he peddled his goods through the surrounding country until he had got together enough money to start a general store in the town of Oneonta, N. Y. He went into partnership with his brother Solon, and his friends supposed that he had settled down to the life of a rural merchant. This was in 1842. Two years later he returned to Connecticut, and in September, 1844, he married Miss Elizabeth T. Stoddard, who had been his schoolmate in his native town. He returned with his bride to Oneonta and remained there until 1848, when the discovery of gold in California turned his eyes to the West.

He made up his mind that he would go to the Pacific Coast, but not as a miner. His shrewd commercial instinct made him believe that there was a greater opportunity in trade during the development of the new country. So taking $1,200 he went down to the Isthmus of Panama intending to cross and go up the west coast to San Francisco. He found, however, on his arrival at the Isthmus that there was no vessel sailing for the Golden Gate and instead of roaming about and wasting his money in dissipation, the young Yankee bought a stock of goods and trudged back and forth across the

Shop Newly Equipped

I have just completed equipping my shop with power and machinery for doing all classes of repair and new work. I am now amply prepared for doing heavy wood work, and also heavy forging. When in need of any kind of repairs very often the time saved by having it done promptly will pay for the same; and besides machinery does work better and cheaper than muscle.

I am now prepared to build on short notice any kind of a wagon you may want—a heavy dray, light spring wagon, or a farm wagon.

A mercantile business which is not given the assistance of advertising is like a stove without an outlet for the smoke. It won't draw. As the generality of merchants are in business for profit, and not for rest or recreation, it is necessary for them to advertise daily so that their business announcements will draw to them the custom they want.

LIFE OF COLLIS P. HUNTINGTON

Isthmus twenty-four times. In the six months that it took him to do this he increased the capital from $1,200 to $5,000. And when finally a schooner sailed from the west coast of the Isthmus, it bore the young man, not, however as a passenger, but as a seaman. He was working his way to save the price of his passage.

Landing in San Francisco, he went out to a trading post called Placerville, but known thereabouts by the euphonious name of Hangtown, and opened a general store. Lumber was $1 a foot, so the New Englander shrewdly used a tent. After a while he thought there were great opportunities in Sacramento, so converting his assets into gold dust, he trudged on foot over the fifty-four miles between Hangtown and Sacramento with $10,000 on his back. Again he opened a store in Sacramento. First he had one tent. Then his business increased and he needed five tents. While thus engaged he met Mark Hopkins, who afterwards was associated with him in his gigantic railroad schemes. They formed a partnership, dealing principally in hardware, and they made money. Other merchants in the town were Leland Stanford and George Crocker, who also joined their fortunes and their brains with those of Huntington and Hopkins in probably the strongest combination of the kind that America has ever known.

In 1861 an Eastern engineer named Theodore D. Judah went to Sacramento and urged that a railroad be built to meet the Union Pacific which was crawling out from the East to the West. Huntington thought this scheme over and his daring mind concluded that there was money in it. He talked with Hopkins, with Crocker and Stanford and with several other merchants of the place, and they agreed to organize a company with the purpose of building a railroad from Sacramento east through Nevada and into Utah, where it would meet the Union Pacific. The company was incorporated under the name of the Central Pacific Railway Company, with a capital of $5,000,000. The four men named were the principal holders of the stock. L. A. Booth, Charles Marsh, James Bailey and others were interested in the enterprise, but they eventually dropped out. Huntington saw that it would be necessary to secure Government aid to carry out so tremendous an undertaking. He was deputized by the members of the quartette to go to Washington and see what could be done with Congress.

The North and the South were then at war, and the Washington Government realized the danger in the Western part of the country while the armies of the North were fighting in the South. It was feared that foreign powers might attempt to seize California, and without a railroad by which troops could get across the plains the Government would be in a bad position to resist such an aggression. Huntington's scheme was deemed magnificent and Congress granted his company a franchise with most liberal terms. The company was empowered to build a road east over the most available route to meet the Union Pacific. Every alternate section of land on each side of the roadway was to become the property of the company. Government bonds to the amount of $27,000,000 were given as a subsidy. However, before any of this money could be used in the construction of the road, it was stipulated that fifty miles of track should be completed. This made it necessary for Mr. Huntington to come to New York and put his bonds on the market. He succeeded in selling for cash $1,500,000 of them, pledging the credit of himself and his firm and that of his associates as additional security.

In this way the first fifty miles of the road was completed, and the Government bonds were ready for use. By this time all the men who had interested themselves in the work, except Huntington, Hopkins, Stanford and Crocker had dropped out. These men formed the Credit and Finance Company, and as directors of the Central Pacific they made a contract with themselves as the Credit and Finance Company to build the railroad. The terms of the contract were that they were to pay for the work $27,000,000 Government bonds, $27,000,000 of the company's first mortgage bonds, the Government bonds being second mortgage bonds, and about $8,000,000 of land bonds which they had issued on the land grant from the Government. With the profits of this transaction these men were able to get control of all the railroad, street car and steamship facilities on the Pacific Slope.

The Central Pacific was finished in 1869, the last spike being driven into a tie on the plains of Utah on May 10. That was the beginning of Mr. Huntington's railroad career. Having carried through so gigantic a scheme, he had the confidence of all the great financiers of the country and was enabled to command unlimited capital in all his undertakings. At the time of his death there were merged into the Southern Pacific Company, of which Mr. Huntington was president, twenty-six corporations with more than 9,000 miles of railroad and 5,000 miles of steamship lines.

The bonds which the Government gave the Huntington syndicate were to run for twenty years, but as early as 1873 Congress began investigating the methods employed in building and handling the property. After the expiration of the term of the bonds Congress demanded payment of the entire debt of the road to the Government. There was an acrimonious investigation in the Senate in Washington in which Mr. Huntington was a witness for several days. There was a settlement reached finally in 1898 by the terms of which the road agreed to make payment in full of the first and second mortgage bond amounting with interest to more than $9,000,000, in twenty equal half yearly installments, at 3 per cent. interest. This prevented the property from being sold under foreclosure.

Having conquered the West Mr. Huntington came East. He took hold of the Chesapeake and Ohio Railroad, developing the Western feeders in Kentucky and Tennessee and made a success of a road which had ruined several of his predecessors. He turned the village of Newport News, Va., into a city. He made it the tide water terminus of the Chesapeake and Ohio and erected there one of the greatest shipyards in the country. He is said to have invested more than $12,000,000 in that property, where he employed nearly 10,000 men. He has since disposed of his holdings in the Chesapeake and Ohio and many of his other Eastern interests.

He was a very light eater, taking his meals at regular hours. He arose early and went to bed early. Having a naturally strong constitution, he was able to bear unusually heavy burdens during his whole business life without breaking down. He had an unusual interest in young men. He was always ready to hold out a helping hand to them, both with money and advice.

Although devoted to business Mr. Huntington found time to read books. He was very fond of good books and had a large library whose volumes were bound with extraordinarily handsome covers. Strangely enough, poetry appealed strongly to this practical man of affairs. He always kept at his desk a set of George Crabbe's poems and in his moments of relaxation he would draw the book from his desk and run over it. He was also fond of fine paintings and he bought liberally with an independent judgment. He was a most striking looking man. In stature he was 6 feet 1 inch and heavily built. In his latter years he was bald and used to wear in his office a black silk smoking cap. He was very fond of this cap and many of the pictures of him which have been printed show him wearing it. He wore a heavy mustache and a full white beard, which concealed somewhat the strength of his mouth and jaw. There was about his personality much of magnetism when conversing with those whom he desired to please, but in business he was often brusque and sometimes made enemies in this way. Patience was one of his most pronounced characteristics. He would wait for years to accomplish something upon which he had set his mind. He used to say himself that nothing could beat him waiting except the Catholic Church.

Best Element Says Keep the Faith.

Durham Herald.

Democratic speakers and papers promised that with the adoption of the amendment the cry of "nigger," which has been used in every campaign in the State within our recollection would be heard no more forever, and we are glad to see that the best element among the Democratic press believes that it is the duty of the party to keep the faith. This is what gives us respect for the party.

High Art.

From the Cleveland Plain Dealer.

"Pa, what's the partition of China?" "It's the art of cutting it into as many slices as there are hungry powers, my son, and doing it so skillfully that each power will think it has the biggest piece."

Reading a Book.

A writer in the New York Medical Journal says that the curved pages of the ordinary book are injurious to the eye of the reader. The curvature necessitates a constant change of the focus of the eye as it reads from one side to another, and the ciliary muscles are under a constant strain. Moreover, the light falls unequally upon both sides of the page, further interfering with a continued clear field of vision. It is suggested that the difficulty might be obviated if the lines should be printed parallel to the binding instead of at right angles to it.

RHEUMATISM—CATARRH—DISEASES CURED BY B. B. B.

It is the deep-seated, obstinate cases of catarrh and rheumatism that B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) cures. It matters not what other treatments, doctors, sprays, liniments, medicated air, blood purifiers, have failed to do, B. B. B. always promptly reaches the real cause and roots out and drives from the bones, joints, mucous membrane, and entire system the specific poison in the blood that causes rheumatism and catarrh. B. B. B. is the only remedy strong enough to do this and cure and so there can never be a return to the symptoms. Don't give up hope, but try B. B. B. (Botanic Blood Balm) or 3 Bs.

For sale by druggists and Howard Gardner, in Greensboro, at $1 per large bottle, or 6 large bottles (full treatment) $5. To prove our faith in B. B. B. we will send a trial bottle free to sufferers, so they may test the remedy at our expense. Address Blood Balm Co., Atlanta, Ga.

Will Steer You Straight to Health

One of the greatest limited means and large ring attacks of sickness are there, where sickness with its heavy demands on the purse of the unfortunate, keeps prosperity out of reach. Thousands of lives are sacrificed year in and year out, many constitutions are completely wrecked, and all because the average family does not regard with proper attention, the small ill. Wise persons watch carefully all symptoms of a disturbed system, and those who are prudent have a regulator laid by, ready for just such a condition of things. The only natural regulator, that will steer you straight to health and keep you there, is

Abbey's Effervescent Salt

"THE 'SALT' OF SALTS."

It is invigorating, cleans the tongue and mouth, and imparts a feeling of freshness to the entire system. A teaspoonful taken in a glass of water every morning will keep you in the best of health and spirits, and the system in a condition of insusceptibility to disease and disorders of the blood. Wherever it has been introduced the medical profession have endorsed it as an efficacious preventative of and cure for Indigestion, Bileousness, Loss of Appetite, Sleeplessness, Constipation and similar complaints. Abbey's Salt purifies the blood, clears the complexion and makes a most pleasant beverage at all times, taking the place of Soda, Seltzer and Mineral Waters.

D. WAGNER, M. D., says: "Have used Abbey's Salt recently in Nervous Prostration with Wakefulness, Headaches, etc., both of which were controlled by it. After much experience, I heartily recommend it to all physicians as one of our best and most reliable remedies. It has a place among my reliables."

Sold by most druggists, or sent by mail, 25c., 50c. and $1 per bottle.

GLORIOUS NEWS

Comes from Dr. D. B. Cargile, of Washita, I. T. He writes: "Four bottles of Electric Bitters has cured Mrs. Brewer of scrofula, which had caused her great suffering for years. Terrible sores would break out on her head and face, and the best doctors could give no help; but her cure is complete and her health is excellent." This shows what thousands have proved,—that Electric Bitters is the best blood purifier known. It's the supreme remedy for eczema, tetter, salt rheum, ulcers, boils and running sores. It stimulates liver, kidneys and bowels, expels poisons, helps digestion, builds up the strength. Only 50 cents. Sold by C. E. Holton, druggist. Guaranteed.

THE HEYWOOD.

HE WORKED DESTRUCTION.

A Sample of What a Fairly Healthy Cockatoo Can Do.

A light chain securely fastened on the cockatoo's leg promised safety, but he contrived to get within reach of my new curtains and rapidly devoured some half yard or so of a hand painted border, which was the pride of my heart. Then came an interval of calm and exemplary behavior which lulled me into a false security. Cockie seemed to have but one object in life, which was to pull out all his own feathers, and by evening the dining room often looked as though a white fowl had been plucked in it.

I consulted a bird doctor, but as Cockie's health was perfectly good and his diet all that could be recommended, it was supposed he only plucked himself for want of occupation, and firewood was recommended as a substitute. This answered very well, and he spent his leisure in gnawing sticks of deal—only when no one chance to be in the room he used to unfasten the swivel of his chain, leave it dangling on the stand and descend in search of his playthings. When the fire had not been lighted, I often found half the coals pulled out of the grate and the firewood in splinters. At last, with warmer weather, both coals and wood were removed, so the next time Master Cockie found himself short of a job he set to work on the dining room chairs, first pulled out all their bright nails and next tore holes in the leather, through which he triumphantly dragged the stuffing.

At one time he went on a visit for some weeks and ate up everything within his reach in that friendly establishment. His "bag" for one afternoon consisted of a venerable fern and a large palm, some library books, newspapers, a pack of cards and an armchair. And yet every one adores him, and he is the spoiled child of more than one family.—Cornhill.

LIKED THE POORHOUSE.

Would Not Leave It to Go For Money That Belonged to Him.

"I won't go out! I won't leave here for anything!"

Such was the amazing declaration of a pauper attendant in an east end London workhouse on being told by an agent that he was entitled to some money. And the man—the son of a post captain in the navy—meant all that he said. Not an inch would he budge, nor would he sign any paper, and it was only by taking a commissioner down to him that the fund could be recovered.

Whether because it was only a comparatively small sum or whether because he was a worker, the guardians made no claim on it. Accordingly, at his request, it was split, and two accounts were opened on his behalf in the Postoffice Savings bank. But, for all that, he continued to remain in the workhouse.

Meanwhile he was very anxious that his wife should not know he was alive—in fact, he denied that he was married. His life partner, however, called at the agent's office to inquire about the case, though she begged that her husband might not be told of her whereabouts. She was in a fairly good position, earning as she did a living by keeping a ladies' school, and once or twice her reprobate husband had turned up in an intoxicated condition and raised a commotion that had scandalized her pupils. The ill sorted pair were, therefore, not brought into communication.

Never would the pauper legatee leave the workhouse. He remained there till his death, whereupon, having left no will, the money he had scorned to use passed to his wife.—Cassell's Saturday Journal.

JUST A BIT OF LIFE.

A Pathetic Incident of the Pawnshops in the Metropolis.

Sneaking into a small shop in an obscure and poverty ridden locality, the man who "went broke" at the races was realizing on a superfluous article of jewelry. A woman so poor and pinched in feature, so marked with care and desperation that it made him feel sick to look at her, was holding something under her shawl and waiting nervously until he should have finished his transaction.

"Wait on her. She seems to be in a hurry," he said to the man behind the counter, and at the word of permission a carpenter's plane was produced from the shelter of the shawl.

"How much do you want?" queried the unmoved pawnbroker monotonously.

"Fifty cents," replied the woman, with a gulping in her throat and an eager look in her eyes. She clutched the money tightly and ran into another creature, poor as herself, but bearing her troubles in duller fashion. She had a baby's cloak, never costly and much worn, on which she wanted to borrow money, the same sum as the other woman had asked for.

The man who had been offering a diamond felt uncomfortable. "There, give me $50. The stone's worth four times as much." And, seizing the money, he hurried after the woman who had just left the shop. He was not given to acts of charity, and he felt awkward, the more so as the woman shrank from him as he accosted her.

"I beg your pardon," he began, "but here's $5 I have no use for. Perhaps you?"

"No, no!" she cried, drawing further from him.

"For your child," he said gently.

"My child is dead!" cried the woman, with a queer sob, and fled into the labyrinth of alleys and byways that shelters so much wretchedness.—New York Times.

Curious Mexican Laws.

They have some very curious criminal laws in Mexico. For instance, it is twice as much of an offense to mutilate the face of a woman as that of a man. The law seems to be based on the idea that a woman's best possession is her beauty and that to mar it does her a great injury.

There is another curious law. If a person should be wounded in an encounter, the punishment to the offender is fixed by the number of days his victim has to stay in the hospital or under a doctor's care. A line is fixed at 40 days in the way of a general division. If the injured man occupies more than 40 days in his recovery, the penalty doubles up.

An Impudent Fraud.

An impudent fraud was perpetrated upon a Manchester bank by one of its customers, who opened an account with some few hundreds of pounds. The man, after a few weeks, drew two checks, each within a pound or so of his balance, and, selecting a busy day, presented himself at one end of the counter, while an accomplice, when he saw that his friend's check had been cashed, immediately presented his own to a cashier at the other end. Both cashiers referred the checks to the ledger clerk, who, thinking the same cashier had asked him twice, said "right" to both checks. The thieves were never caught.

Nye's Introduction.

When James Whitcomb Riley and Bill Nye traveled together giving a joint entertainment, the humorist had great fun with the poet. Once, in introducing Riley and himself to an audience, Nye remarked, "I will appear first and speak until I get tired, then Mr. Riley will succeed me and read from his own works until you get tired."

A LIFE AND DEATH FIGHT

Mr. W. A. Hines, of Manchester, Iowa, writing of his almost miraculous escape from death says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even it cost $5 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure throat, chest and lung troubles." Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. and Friday; light to fresh southwest winds.

Highest temperature at Greensboro past twenty-four hours ending eight o'clock this morning 96, lowest 72.

MINOR OCCURENCES.

A Few Things That Have Happened in
"the Village" Today.

One of the horses owned by the city is right sick at Vanstory's stables.

The Sentinel says Winston ranks third among the cities of the United States in the production of manufactured tobacco.

A genuine ground hog, in the possession of a passenger on the train from Mt. Airy today, attracted a good deal of attention.

A crowd of Greensboro people went out to the home of Mr. John E. Mc-Knight, two miles north of the city, last night and enjoyed a melon feast.

Mrs. R. A. Freeman, of Burlington, was here this morning on her return from Johns Hopkins Hospital, Baltimore, where she has been for treatment.

Thomasville correspondence L xington Dispatch: Mrs. J. O. Elliott, of Greensboro, is spending a few days here with her mother, Mrs. W. G.
Pennington.

The Greensboro Athletic Baseball
Club, composed of colored players, has challenged the Quicksteps of Charlotte for a series of games to determine the State championship.

Lexington Dispatch: Mrs. E. J. Maguire and daughter are visiting relatives in Greensboro. Miss Bessie Watson, accompanied by Miss Kirkman, of Greensboro, is visiting Miss Lena Grimes, on North Main street.

Ate Course Dinners.

A woman just arrived from Australia was recently negotiating with an agent in London for a house in one of the newer districts of Kensington.
She asked if it was a nice neighborhood. "It is thoroughly desirable, madam," replied the house agent.
"They are without exception soup and fish families."

It is not correct to say that a girl "renders" a song. If she lives long enough to become of some use in the world, she may some day render lard, but she can't render a song.—Aitchison Globe.

Lady Betty.

In prerevolutionary days there was a woman public executioner in Virginia. At that time death sentences were respited on condition that a criminal should perform this office.

"Lady Betty," as she was afterward called, was sentenced to death for murder. She offered instead to become public executioner and held this office for many years.

It is said that on the scaffold she officiated without a mask.—Chicago Times-Herald.

Golf.

The game of golf was put down by an act of parliament in Scotland in 1841 as a nuisance. Then fines were inflicted on people who were found guilty of playing the game, for it interfered with the practice of archery, as men preferred wielding the club to pulling the bow.

A GRAND EXCURSION TO WIL-MINGTON, AUGUST 22.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or biliousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of appendicitis, nervous prostration or heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stop fermentation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and others. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you.
For sale by Grissom & Fordham.

Millions will be spent in politics this year. We can't keep the campaign going without money any more than we can keep the body vigorous without food. Dyspeptics use to starve themselves. Now Kodol Dyspepsia Cure digests what you eat and allows you to eat all the good food you want.
It radically cures stomach troubles.
